EDITOR'S NOTE

It has been super exciting to participate in the Facebook Accelerator Program and as it comes to an end I am reflecting on the incredible changes it has facilitated for our organization and our members. Our new website provides a place where our members can easily find our magazine and online learning material. Our magazine subscriptions will help us to bring on board the staff that we need to grow this digital publication in a meaningful way so it becomes the go-to reference for ethically sourced gifts. We are well on our way to long term sustainability that will allow us to reach more people with our important message.

WE ARE SO GRATEFUL FOR EVERY MEMBER WHO PARTICIPATED. IT IS SUCH A BLESSING TO HAVE SUCH A HIGH CALIBER OF IMAGES AND WORKS TO CHOOSE FROM TO REPRESENT WHO WE ARE AND WHAT WE DO TO THE WORLD.

THANK YOU FOR CO-CREATING MAGIC WITH US!

I WOULD ALSO LIKE TO SEND A HUGE SHOUT OUT OF THANKS TO ALL OF THE COMMUNITY MEMBERS WHO HELPED US TO SELECT THE ONE THAT WE USED IN THE END. IT WAS SUCH A TOUGH CHOICE, WE COULD NOT HAVE DONE IT WITHOUT YOUR VOTES.

ALICE OLSEN

I would like to share how this group has helped lift me up after the death of my spouse last November, and how making things from his clothes for his family members (and me) helped us all as well.

Here's my story... The death of my spouse was, and still is, hard. Finding this group after his passing was a blessing for me. It gave me a community to belong to; a community of caring, supportive, and creative members.

I was inspired by many of the wonderful things that the members made. This encouraged me to create things from the clothes of my loved one to give to his relatives as remembrances. I made a lap quilt from his flannel shirts for his mother. I made a rug from his t shirts for his sister. His niece got a tote bag made from his jeans and having the precious reminder made her cry. This year for her birthday, his sister is getting some beads made from his old jeans.

These were all projects inspired by the group.

For myself I made a carrying case for my music stand from the leg of his jeans. Since we were both musicians, that held extra meaning for me. Every day I look forward to seeing what new amazing thing members are sharing. And I can't wait to take a picture when I create something new, so I can share it with my "friends".

This is a quilt that I made from my spouse's flannel shirts as a gift for his 96 year old Mom.

JOSEPHINE LEACH

I spent my childhood in Renmark in the Riverland of South Australia. The River Murray runs alongside the town and the fruit growing settlement. We had a free and easy upbringing.

My Mother encouraged me to sew and I spent hours sewing clothes for my dolls. We did sewing at school and I made my first skirt when I was about nine or ten. In my late teens I trained as a Mothercraft Nurse (Nanny) and I lived and travelled overseas for years.

I married and after my children left home I went back to further my adult education and I enrolled in a two year designer dress making course. I loved every minute of the time I spent studying and for the next 25 years worked from home with my own dressmaking business.

During this time one of my sons designed a winter liner for hard hats. These we called HannayHeadwarmers. The Headwarmers were relatively successful and I started going to markets to sell them. This led on to making bags and jackets and other items from recycled jeans. I gradually started making hats from recycled fabrics and denim and I became more adventurous about mixing colors and fabrics.

I later changed the business name to HannayHandmade.

My hats have calmed down a bit now color wise as I've had to go with what buyers are looking for rather than following my own ideas.

I haunt the op shops looking for unusual fabrics... curtains, duvet covers, etc. Later I added colorful newsboy caps and twenties style cloche hats to my range.

My sewing/work room is an outside room that can shut away when I am not sewing. In fine weather I usually sew with the door open so I can look out at the garden. I'm very messy and mostly cut multiple items at one time. Then I tidy up before I start to sew. I use my Grandmother's 120 year old shears to cut each piece.

Ollie, our Border Collie/Belgian Shepherd, has been our faithful companion for fourteen years. We have a combined family of five children, eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

I enjoy going to Creative Writing and I also teach a small group of retired ladies music. I try to find to relax playing the piano and getting out in the garden.

Over the years we've done quite a lot of overseas travel but as we are both in our eighties now we tend to stay closer to home.

I'm happy sewing!

We usually have a market stall in a nearby town every month.

Since joining the Up-Cycled Cloth Collective this worldwide Group continuously astounds me with their talent and imagination and their will to re-use all sorts of things. They are all so supportive of one another. I congratulate the founder and her administrators for doing such an incredible job.

My name is Fatima Abbass. I am a 58 year old granny and everyone calls me "Nanna". I love to bake, create, make beaded jewelry and many other crafts. My biggest love is crocheting with T-shirt yarn. I would love to turn my hobby into a business where i can teach unemployed ladies in my area of Mitchells Plain to create mats, baskets, and bags. Before I can do that one need to educate the people to start supporting our own and especially hand made stuff. We need a mind change as people are not into wearing a bag that was made from an old sweater.

I am an optical receptionist currently but previously I worked at an NGO that dealt with HIV positive people. I was an administrator and when the people or those infected or affected did counseling I looked after their kids I kept them entertained. This is how I came up with little beading projects and recycling goodies to keep kids occupied and at minimal expense. That is where I started researching and found I could combine my love for crochet with recycle material.

A "little known fact about me" is that I suffer from pediophobia ... the fear of dolls. That is why I was always looking for things to make or re-arrange my life instead of playing with dolls. Now I am at the point that I can crochet and make stuffed dolls but not yet touch or play with life like ones.

If I sell a item I buy wool from profits and crochet beanies for preemie babies.

When we were working on the documentary, we visited this wonderful thrift store that supports a number of different charities. I was super impressed by the high quality of clothing and the beautiful styling in the store.

Here is more information about the organization.

Where does the clothing come from?

Since we are an NPO and all proceeds go to educational projects and early childhood development, we appeal for clothing donations. We have regulars who are passionate about the same causes as us, and they are very supportive in our mission.

We are very transparent, every Rand we make after basic expenses will reach children in need. We also have a Swap4Charity initiative, when people can bring in 4-6 seasonal items for TOKENS, which they can redeem to buy other items on our rails. This way, people get back something small for their donation, if they wish to participate.

We are very grateful for all of our donors over the years and our shop is full of beautiful quality items.

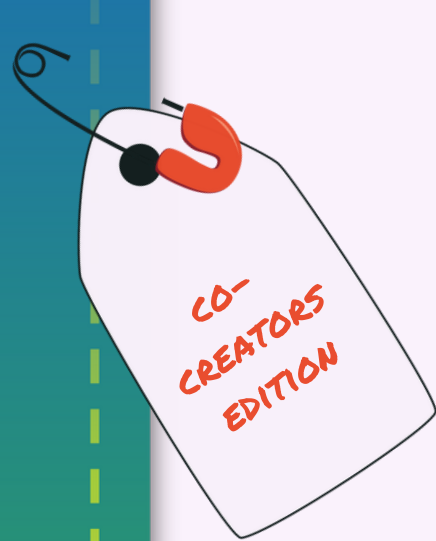

Who benefits and how?

Our Jozi shop currently supports 3 main projects:

1. Cradle of Hope - Early Childhood Development section - where we support the teaching and feeding of impoverished kids.
2. Dayspring Children Village - Pre-School program - same as above.
3. Hotel Hope - Montessori pre-school for orphaned children - our new project we support

We have donated over 10 Million Rand to help those in need since our inception.

How do up-cycled textiles benefit social good within our context?

We help in raising awareness over 12 years about the importance of slow fashion, the landfill of clothing enters the land each day and the importance to appreciate and re-love everything we have. We cannot keep going to use our resources how we have done in the past, a mindset and habit change is necessary... we are here to provide an alternative source of reusable and recyclable items of clothing, and a perfect place to bring your no longer wanted items to reduce your load. We are here to promote pre-loved.

See our new online marketplace Called Love It Again, www.loveitagain.co.za where you can have more branded/vintage items and also shop from our other shops nationwide.

Who are our customers?

We have a wide range of supporters, from young thrifters to Grannies who love to come here and browse our selections. They love to pick up interesting items at good prices, and also take advantage of our monthly half price sale days to find bargains. Because we have the online presence now, we get customers who buy from Cape Town or Durban too... it is lovely that we share some of our customers with our other outlets.

Customers love the fact that we give away all the profit we make to those, who are really struggling right now and need support the most!

Thank you for the opportunity to feature in your magazine.

I bought this beautiful skirt at Chic Mamas Jozi, only it was a little too big for me, so I created two pleats at equal distances from the center on the back of the skirt and hand stitched them in place with matching thread. I prefer hand stitching to fighting with a machine. I will often make the stitching a feature rather than try to make it invisible (which I am no good at because my eyes are no longer the best).

The bottom edge of the waistband had a tendency to curl up so I stitched it down too. If you want to see how it looks watch my video at this link...

<https://www.facebook.com/melanie.brummer/videos/795436048977955>

HERE ARE SOME TIPS FOR MAKING WAISTBANDS SMALLER ON SKIRTS...

1. Determine the desired waist size: Measure your waist and decide how much smaller you want the waistband to be.
2. Remove the existing waistband: Carefully unpick the stitches holding the waistband in place, making sure not to damage the skirt fabric.
3. Cut the excess fabric: Once the waistband is removed, measure and mark the amount of fabric you want to remove from the waistband. Cut off the excess fabric evenly.
4. Resize the waistband: If the waistband is too wide, fold it in half lengthwise and sew along the edge to make it narrower. Alternatively, you can replace the waistband with a new one.

5. Adjust the skirt gathers: If your skirt has gathers, you may need to redistribute them to fit the new waistband size. This can be done by adjusting the gathering stitches or removing and reattaching the skirt to the waistband.
6. Sew the waistband back on: Align the waistband with the top edge of the skirt and pin it in place. Sew along the edge, making sure to catch both the waistband and the skirt fabric.
7. Add closures: If your skirt has a zipper or buttons, make sure to reattach them securely after resizing the waistband.
8. Test the fit: Try on the skirt to ensure the waistband is now the desired size. Make any necessary adjustments before finalizing the alterations.
9. Finish the edges: If the waistband fabric is prone to fraying, consider finishing the raw edges with a serger or a zigzag stitch to prevent unraveling.
10. Press the skirt: Finally, give your skirt a good press with an iron to smooth out any wrinkles and give it a polished look.

Remember, it's always a good idea to practice on a scrap piece of fabric before making alterations to your actual skirt. Good luck with your waistband resizing! Let me know if you have any more questions.
